

Honor Your Favorite Teacher.

Imagine if there were 200 people in the Seattle area who wanted to honor their favorite teacher — you know, the teacher who changed their lives or the life of one of their children — and each of those people gave $25 dollars a month for a whole year.

That would be $60,000.
That would pay our lease for two years.

More importantly,
That would open up free writing workshops to about 1,000 different kids.

That would help about 2,000 kids in after-school tutoring.

That would serve about 2,000 kids through in-school programs where we send our tutors.

That would support about 300 one-on-one mentoring sessions between a professional writer and a student.

In other words, that would help over 5,000 kids
improve their writing skills.

Imagine how many young people's lives will be changed forever because they will be able to express themselves effectively in writing.
